Iraqi Tells Of U.S. Abuse, From Ridicule To Rape Threat
By Ian Fisher

BAGHDAD, Iraq, May 13 - The rough road to confession began with the ridicule of the naked and hooded prisoner’s name: Saddam.
The now-former prisoner, Saddam Saleh Aboud, 29, said that escalated into a threat of rape by an American soldier named Ivan in the 1-A block of Abu Ghraib prison. Then, he said, he was chained in a sitting position to the bars of a cell for 23 hours in a day. Loud music thumped, he said. He urinated where he sat.
Every few days, he said, he was uncuffed for other treatments: douses of cold water, barking dogs, something called "the scorpion," in which his arms were cuffed to his legs, behind his back.
Fellow prisoners, he said, told him later it lasted 18 days. He said he did not know, and that it did not matter. He was ready to talk.
"They began talking to me," Mr. Aboud said. "They asked, 'Do you know the Islamic opposition?' I said, 'Yes.' " They asked, 'Do you know Zarqawi?'' referring to a Abu Musab al-Zarqawi, a Jordanian militant with ties to Al Qaeda. "I told them, 'I am his driver, I swear to God.' "
"They asked me about Osama bin Laden," he said. "I said, 'I am Osama bin Laden but I am disguised.' "

file://A:_FW%20Another%20Victim.htm
He said he meant every word. "I was only afraid that they would take me back to the torture room," he said. "I would prefer to be dead."

Mr. Aboud spoke, reluctantly at first, for several hours on Thursday after a chance encounter with a reporter at the office of a human rights group here in Baghdad, where he had gone to register what he said was torture during four months at Abu Ghraib.

Despite his anger and shame at what he said the Americans had done to him, he even told of some kind behavior by soldiers.

"I just want to clarify one thing," he said at one point. "Most of the American soldiers were not bad."

As with other accounts by Iraqis of abuse, it was impossible to verify his claims - and the job gets ever harder amid the widespread rage, the possible desire for compensation and the sheer volume of detailed coverage of the case.

It is possible, however, to weigh his account with the growing record from the military and other witnesses.

His name and prisoner number, 200144, is not included in a damning military investigation of the abuse. But the dates he gave matched those of the worst abuse, and he mentioned several cellmates with names similar to those in the report.

With no prompting, he also provided first names of several important figures in the report and accurately described some of their roles: a sergeant named Ivan; a woman named "Lynn or Lynnie," he said, and whom he recognized in the pictures released two weeks ago; a civilian named Steven, who he said seemed in charge of interrogations.

Condemned in the report by Maj. Gen. Antonio M. Taguba were Staff Sergeant Ivan L. Frederick II, of the 372nd Military Police Company; Pfc. Lyndie England, identified as the woman holding a leash tied around the neck of one prisoner in a photo; and Steven Stefanowicz, a civilian interrogator who General Taguba said in his report instructed military police officers to elicit confessions using unapproved methods.

Mr. Aboud's allegations of the methods of abuse largely squared with those in General Taguba's report. He also mentioned, again with no prompting, a central allegation of the report: his belief that the orders for torture came from superiors.

"I think this was carried out under orders," he said. He offered as evidence that the man named Steven appeared to be the one directing the soldiers and that several higher-up officers regularly visited the cellblock - at times, he claimed, during actual mistreatment.

He said he asked one of the interrogators, " 'Why do you torture us?' " and that the man replied, " 'It's not in our control.' "

He also said that the soldiers themselves, as a group, seemed conflicted about what they were doing.

While some seemed to enjoy it, he said, one soldier unlatched him for several hours, only to rush back and chain him again when his superiors were coming.

At one point, one female soldier, whom he identified as "Mrs. Lise," yelled at a man who punched him during questioning.

Mr. Aboud, a trader and Sunni Muslim from near the northern border with Syria, said he was arrested on Nov. 29, 2003, when he reported to the Iraqi police a car on Saddoun Street in downtown Baghdad that he believed was wired with a bomb. He was blunt that he did not do this out of concern for American soldiers, whom he views as occupiers who must leave Iraq. "If this car would have exploded at an American site, I would support that," he said. "But this would have killed innocent people."
The Iraqi police, he said, handed him over to American soldiers. After spending five days at two small United States bases, he said he was sent to Abu Ghraib, to Cell Block 1-A, known as the "hard site" for the worst prisoners. He had seen the prison before: He said he had spent three years in Abu Ghraib as a political prisoner and was released in a general amnesty that Saddam Hussein declared in October 2002.
He said he was settled into cell No. 42 and was given an orange prison outfit. Soon after, he said, he was hooded, taken to a hallway in the block and ordered to strip naked. Then he was told to stand on a box, with his hands laced over his head. One interrogator began to mock his first name, Saddam. He said that he heard the click of cameras but that he did not recognize himself in any of the released pictures of the abuse.
"Then they started to beat me," he said. He said he was struck with a broomstick, first on his hands, then on his arms, his shoulders and his stomach. Then he fell to the ground. One soldier, who prisoners called "the crazy soldier" because he seemed unbalanced, urinated on him, he claimed. Then they threw cold water on him. He was taken back to his cell.
The next day, he said, he was taken to a room where he said the sergeant named Ivan was sitting in a plastic chair. "He told me his famous sentence, which has always stayed in my ears," said Mr. Aboud, who understands some English and speaks it a little. "He said, "If you do not confess, I will have my soldiers rape you.""
"That is not a man," Mr. Aboud said, switching from Arabic into broken English. "No. 1, animal. No. 2, crazy. Not an American."
He was not interrogated, however, but taken to a cell where his feet were slipped through cell bars and his hands cuffed just above them. He said he was forced to sit like that, naked, for 23 hours out of 24, with loud music blasting from a stereo. "If they would have played for me good music, maybe I could have slept - boom, boom, boom!" he said.
Every few days, he said, he was uncuffed and taken for some other abuse, but never asked any questions. At least four times, he was placed in the "scorpion" position and kicked while lying on the ground, he said. Twice, he said, soldiers brought him naked before two snarling dogs. Days blurred into each other, relieved only once by the kind soldier who uncuffed him and whispered, "Go and get some rest."
After what his prison mates said were 18 days - he believed it was on Dec. 23 - he was taken back to his cell. On the next day, he said, the interrogation began. There were three soldiers, he said, and two civilians who he believed were from military intelligence. The man named Steven, in his 30's with a goatee, stood silent. The soldiers, he said, deferred to Steven.
"Steven was responsible for everything," he said. "He was the one who told them what to do. He did not do any torturing himself."
He said the interrogators did not have to work hard: For the next few days, he said, he confessed to anything they asked. He admitted to belonging to the insurgency, of knowing top terrorists, of being Mr. bin Laden, of being a member of a militant Shiite Muslim group, even though he is a Sunni. He said he made up stories about where the resistance was hiding in the western desert.

But, he said, they never asked him about the car bomb that he said he reported to the Iraqi police. And after the interrogations began, he said, he was never tortured again.

If his account is true, this time coincides with the beginning of the military investigations into the abuse. Several of the most abusive soldiers, he said, disappeared from the block. He said he was finally released in March, after one month out of 1-A, in a tent in the prison yard.

He said he was innocent, but suggested that he might not remain so, at least by American standards. An amateur photographer, he said he filmed the fighting in Falluja last month. He will not smoke American cigarettes. He said he now hates the colors red, white and blue. He said he is not a fighter, but pitched back at a reporter the question of whether he would become one.

"You can analyze your own question," he said. "What would you do if I occupied your country, tortured people and violated all the laws of your country? Would you resist me?"
About 0900, 16 Jan 04, SA canvass interviewed detainees NDRS, BCCF, who related that he was sent to the isolation wing on 10 Nov 03. Detainee stated that during his processing into the wing, he was punched and kicked in various places on his body prior to completing his in-processing and interment into his cell. Detainee stated that he sustained injuries to his ribs, knee and finger. Detainee related that though he had a sandbag over his head when he was brought into the isolation wing, he could identify the two black males that were present with him. Detainee related that after the first day in the isolation wing, he was never physically harmed again.

About 0945, 16 Jan 04, SA canvass interviewed detainees NDRS, BCCF, who related that he was sent to the isolation wing on 10 Nov 03. Detainee stated that during his processing he was punched and kicked in the stomach, struck on the back and dragged across the floor. Detainee stated he was beaten and other detainees were piled upon each other and someone sat on him when he was on the top of the pile. Detainee related he was dressed at the time of the assault. Detainee related that the incident occurred just after sunset and he was not able to identify any of his assailants because he had a sandbag over his head. Detainee related that after the first day in the isolation wing, he was never physically harmed again.

About 1045, 16 Jan 04, SA apprised CPT, Military Magistrate, CJTF-7, Baghdad, Iraq, on the preliminary findings of this investigation. CPT provided authorization to search CPT's personal computer for evidence pertaining to the abuse of detainees. (See Affidavit/Search Authorization)

About 1050, 16 Jan 04, SA canvass interviewed detainee NDRS, who related that he was sent to the

About 1300, 21 Jan 04, SA interviewed SEC, HSC, 109th Area SPT Med BN, who related that one night, about 0200, she was called to render aid to a detainee complaining of an anxiety attack. When she entered the hard site and approached her patient, SEC stated that she witnessed what she described as a pyramid of naked guys who had sandbags over their heads. SEC stated this was the only unusual incident she witnessed in the hard site. SEC could add nothing further to assist in the investigation.

About 1340, 21 Jan 04, SA and Mr. canvass interviewed detachment.

PROVANCE, A Co, 362nd MP BN, who rendered a statement that he had a conversation in late OCT 03 with an unknown female soldier from the Nevada National Guard that had just been replaced at the BCCF. The female soldier told SGT PROVANCE that she kept a journal of all wrongdoings, inappropriate behavior and criminal acts in her unit since they arrived in Iraq. The female soldier claimed she mailed the journals to her stateside address before she redeployed so her commander could not take them. SGT PROVANCE stated he had a conversation with SPC (NPI), who detailed an incident where the K-9 officers were scaring the detainees with their dogs. SGT PROVANCE had overheard conversations between the four soldiers where they

BASIS FOR INVESTIGATION: On 30 May 04, this office received a Category I Request For Assistance (RFA) (0124-04-CID259-80199) from the 78th Military Police (MP) Detachment (DET) (CID), Baghdad International Airport (BIAP), Baghdad, Iraq, which requested information pertaining to possible abuse of Detainee Saddam S. AL-RAWI, National Detainee Reporting System (NDRS) number 200144.

At 0800, 31 May 04, SAG coordinated with SPC Magistrates Cell, Baghdad Central Confinement Facility (BCCF), Baghdad, Iraq to obtain the prison records of Detainee AL-RAWI. The record of Detainee AL-RAWI was currently at Combined Joint Task Force-7 (CJTF-7) headquarters.

At 0830, 31 May 04, SAG coordinated with MSG Joint Interrogation and Debriefing Center (JIDC), BCCF, Baghdad, Iraq. MSG stated there were no interrogation reports for Detainee AL-RAWI as he was never on Military Intelligence (MI) hold.

At 0900, 31 May 04, SAG coordinated with MSG who provided a copy of the JIDC Task Organization chart, which listed the civilian interpreters MI utilized for their interrogations (See JIDC task organization chart for details).

AGENTS COMMENT: Unable to locate a list of prison guards on duty during the day shift for the requested time frame. The night shift prison guards; CPL Charles A. GRANER, SPC Megan M. AMBUHL, SGT Javal S. DAVIS, and SPC Sabrina D. HARMAN, all members of 372nd MP CO, are all currently subjects in Report of Investigation (ROI) (0003-04-CID149-83130). The unit of assignment was the 320th MP Battalion, 372nd MP Company (CO), Cumberland, MD. The records this unit kept were very poor.

AGENTS COMMENT: Canvass interviews were not conducted due to the extremely poor record keeping of the previous unit, unable to determine who was in the Hard-site during the time in question and due to the fact that almost 1500 Detainees have been released in the past weeks.

At 1015, 31 May 04, SAG coordinated with HM3 Kilo CO, 3/24 Marines, BCCF, Baghdad, Iraq. HM3 provided the medical records he had on file for Detainee AL-RAWI (See file for details).

Status: Your RFA has been completed in the attached enclosures. No further investigative activity is anticipated by this office.

LAW ENFORCEMENT SENSITIVE
MEMORANDUM FOR Special Agent in Charge, Baghdad Correctional Confinement Facility, (BCCF), Abu Ghriab, Baghdad, Iraq APO AE 09335

SUBJECT: Request for Assistance (RFA) 0124-04-CID295-80199

1. On 25 May 04, this office received a newspaper article from the New York Times titled “Iraqi Tells of U.S. Abuse, From Ridicule to Rape Threat”, dated 14 May 04, which alleged Mr. AL-RAWI was abused while detained at BCCF.

2. Preliminary investigation revealed Mr. Saddam Salah Aboud AL-RAWI, NDRS #200144, (NFI) was apprehended by coalition forces on 29 Nov 03, transported to two different unknown locations then transferred to BCCF. Mr. AL-RAWI was hit repeatedly with a broomstick, kicked, forced to sit in awkward positions for extended periods of time, threatened with rape, brought naked before two snarling dogs, and urinated on by a U.S. soldier during the first thirty days at the BCCF.

On 29 May 04, this office confirmed Mr. AL-RAWI was a detainee at the BCCF and was never listed as a victim of abuse.

A review of Report of Investigation 0003-04-CID149-83130 revealed Mr. AL-RAWI was interviewed on 16 Jan 04 and again on 21 Jan 04 where he related he was never abused or witnessed abuse at the BCCF.

3. Request your office conduct a search of the records maintained at BCCF and provide prison records and interrogation reports, which pertain to Mr. AL-RAWI; a listing of guards on duty during the time frame of the incident, to include unit of assignment; a listing of translators who worked at BCCF during the time frame of the incident; and medical records which pertain to Mr. AL-RAWI.

4. Further, request your office conduct canvass interviews of individuals, who were present at BCCF during the time frame of the incident and are still located at BCCF, to determine if they have any pertinent information related to this investigation.

5. This is a Category I Investigation. Results will be provided to this office within 24 hours of receipt. Reasons for non-compliance with the 24-hour response time limit will be expeditiously provided to this office.

BASIS FOR INVESTIGATION: On 30 May 04, this office received a Category I Request For Assistance (RFA) (0124-04-CID259-80199) from the 78th Military Police (MP) Detachment (DET) (CID), Baghdad International Airport (BIAP), Baghdad, Iraq, which requested information pertaining to possible abuse of Detainee Saddam S. AL-RAWI, National Detainee Reporting System (NDRS) number 200144.

At 0800, 31 May 04, SA coordinated with SPC Magistrates Cell, Baghdad Central Confinement Facility (BCCF), Baghdad, Iraq to obtain the prison records of Detainee AL-RAWI. The record of Detainee AL-RAWI was currently at Combined Joint Task Force-7 (CJTF-7) headquarters.

At 0830, 31 May 04, SA coordinated with MSG Joint Interrogation and Debriefing Center (JIDC), BCCF, Baghdad, Iraq. MSG stated there were no interrogation reports for Detainee AL-RAWI as he was never on Military Intelligence (MI) hold.

At 0900, 31 May 04, SA coordinated with MSG who provided a copy of the JIDC Task Organization chart, which listed the civilian interpreters MI utilized for their interrogations (See JIDC task organization chart for details).

AGENTS COMMENT: Unable to locate a list of prison guards on duty during the requested time frame. The unit of assignment was the 320th MP Battalion, 372nd MP Company (CO), Cumberland, MD. The records this unit kept were very poor.

AGENTS COMMENT: Canvass interviews were not conducted due to the extremely poor record keeping of the previous unit, unable to determine who was in the Hard-site during the time in question and due to the fact that almost 1500 Detainees have been released in the past weeks.

1015, 31 May 04

At 1015, 31 May 04, SA coordinated with HM3 Kilo CO, 3/24 Marines, BCCF, Baghdad, Iraq. HM3 provided the medical records he had on file for Detainee AL-RAWI (See file for details).

However, it was interesting to find two entries in CID ROI 0003-04-CID149-XXXXX, which say he was interviewed but didn't provide any information. Here's the excerpts.
