Being a Peacemaker in
Your Own Community

University of St. Thomas
November 1–2, 2003

Immediate Attention Required
Openings Available on a First-Come Basis

Minnesota high schools and community-based organizations are invited to participate in the third annual Minnesota PeaceJam™. Each year one of 11 different Nobel Laureates comes to Minnesota. This autumn we are hosting Irish Nobel Peace Laureate Betty Williams. Ms. Williams and Mairead Corrigan Maguire received the 1976 Nobel Peace Prize for their heroic work for peace in Northern Ireland.

The goal of PeaceJam™ is to inspire a new generation of peacemakers—youth who will transform their local communities, themselves and the world. We begin with the idea of making peace where you are! PeaceJam™ is a nonsectarian and nonpartisan program dedicated to civic engagement, human rights, character education, violence prevention, reclaiming communities and service-learning.
What is the PeaceJam™ Weekend Retreat?

This year’s event will culminate in an retreat on November 1–2 at the University of St. Thomas, including:

♦ PERSONAL INTERACTION WITH BETTY WILLIAMS: The retreat opens with a talk and question and answer session with the Nobel Laureate. In addition, Ms. Williams will participate in all weekend activities.

♦ A SERVICE PROJECT: Attendees will all participate in service project for the Twin Cities community on the first afternoon.

♦ WORKSHOPS: Participants will select from a wide variety of workshops facilitated by adult and youth presenters.

♦ CULTURAL MUSIC AND ENTERTAINMENT: Saturday evening will include music and other entertainment that is representative of the Nobel Laureate’s culture and traditions.

♦ PRESENTATION OF LOCAL PEACE PROJECT PLANS: Groups will bring posterboards showing their plans for local peace projects.

♦ COLLEGE STUDENTS: 50 college student mentors mainly from the University of St. Thomas, the University of Minnesota, the University Promise Alliance and AmeriCorps Promise Fellows will lead small group discussions and facilitate experiential activities.

Objective:
Youth build peace in their own lives—within themselves, and with their friends and family.

Objective:
Youth develop the attitudes, values and skills to be effective and lifelong peacemakers in their community and the wider world.

Objective:
Youth improve the human rights/culture and conditions in their own school and/or community.

Objective:
Youth join the ongoing civic dialogue about issues of peace and violence in their communities.

---

PeaceJam™ uses an intentional, character-focused approach to positive youth development to build and reinforce protective factors that help youth create peace within their own lives and in their relationships with friends and family. In the process, PeaceJam mitigates risk factors that predict alcohol and other drug use, violence, and school failure.

PeaceJam™ provides youth with a missing link in their education – the attitudes, skills, and values of becoming effective peacemakers with both a local and global focus. The project focuses on the skills required of social entrepreneurs (e.g. public-private partnerships, cause-based marketing, systemic change) to foster meaningful change.

The lives and actions of the Nobel Peace Prize winners act as a mirror for youth to examine and apply human rights and social justice issues in their own communities through implementing a peace/service-learning project. Peace projects are constructed to be mindful of the systems that created and maintain the problem.

At the heart of democracy is civic dialogue – the ability for people with different viewpoints to listen and reason with one another. PeaceJam creates new avenues for youth, those that have the strongest stake in the future world, to be heard in their communities through multiple media (e.g. public speaking, painting, and sculpture).
